

PG-BIKESTM

“For me, coresuite mobile is simply the ideal addition to our SAP system and bridges the gap between external and in-office work.”

Manuel Ostner, CEO International.

Mobility and flexibility are keywords which are part of everyday life for PG-Bikes' CEO, Manuel Ostner. The young company from Germany was looking for a new, innovative distribution system, which reflects the values of their products and builds on the existing production structures and processes. The main goal and challenge was to process online distribution effectively, cheaply and flexibly and make the data available for employees while travelling. In search of an innovative product, Manuel Ostner found out about coresuite eCommerce and coresuite mobile. It was very important to him, for distribution to be able to be processed via the online shop as simply, quickly and in as much detail possible.

With coresuite eCommerce, which is the interface between SAP Business One and the online shop, PG-Bikes has found a perfect solution that saves time and money. By fully integrating the online stores with the SAP system the entire ordering process from order confirmation, to invoicing and even stock management, can be imported into SAP Business One with a click of the mouse. The coresuite mobile Business App covers the need to always be aware of the current sales figures. The app allows Manuel Ostner to access business partner data, sales figures and service calls in SAP Business One.

PG-Bikes is now working with a web shop, which provides more than 13 billion possibilities for individual bicycles and offers a selection of more than 6.5 million electric bicycles. For PG-Bikes customers, the clear, logical structure of the web shop is a big improvement. coresuite eCommerce enabled PG-Bikes' process structures, which have been adopted in large companies for a long time, to be quickly and easily extended to their sales. By supplementing coresuite eCommerce with the new coresuite mobile, Manuel Ostner has taken one more step in collaborating with coresystems. The new coresuite mobile app is the perfect tool to allow him to access his SAP Business One data and read the latest sales and company figures, even on the move.

“We have specifically chosen coresystems because we have to map different processes, and especially in my position as an international sales man who travels a lot, it is obviously of utmost importance to be able to review these processes regularly, quickly and comprehensively.”

Manuel Ostner, CEO International.
